Region Profile: Blaichach

Blaichach

Its excellent location and multifaceted infrastructure make the community of Blaichach an appealing economic and residential site in Oberallgaeu. A moderate taxation and fee system as well as business-friendly and family-friendly building development management make the community future-oriented and attractive on a long-term basis. 5,589 inhabitants (as of Dec. 31, 2009) with sound purchasing power thanks to the large production plant of the firm Robert Bosch GmbH and the 538 other industrial enterprises in the community appreciate the advantageous traffic infrastructure and the superb support services network on site. A day nursery and two kindergartens are present in the community as also elementary and intermediate schools with afternoon childcare, an open all-day school and homework supervision. This enables us to provide our pupils with extensive educational support. A close meshed support network consisting of youth welfare and social work in the schools, as well as coordinators for matters concerning families, senior citizens and the disabled, in addition comprehensive and lively club activities assure that all the citizens of Blaichach feel at home in our community. The administrative area of Blaichach consisting of 12.4 acres extends from a height of 2,395 ft. to a height of 5,725 ft. and is made up of 12 wards. The Gunzesrieder Tal is thereby one of the touristic pearls of the region. Blaichach is part of the Nature Park Nagelfluhkette.
